

BUSHIDO

名誉

Meiyo (Honor)

Samurai master's would study the local fruits and fauna, often infusing them into their black teas and sharing them with weary travelers.

仁

Jin (Compassion)

To share a pot of Green tea steeped with peppermint leaves is a small act of compassion that any person could undertake.

真

Makoto (Honesty & Sincerity)

Picking jasmine to add to the tea pot is a small intention but it should not be taken any more lightly than fighting a legion.

礼

REI (Respect)

The Ancient Masters taught respect to the warriors by nurturing a selection of darkest spices. An infusion of these spices with Chai tea leaves would reinvigorate the mind and body.

